

Textual Note	p.7
Note on Contributors	p.9
General Introduction
Michèle Vignaux (Lumière Lyon 2 University)	p.15

Part I

Nature is your only philosopher

1. “‘Winter and rough weather’:
Arden’s Climate in As You Like It”
Sophie Chiari (Clermont Auvergne University) p.33
2. “‘These trees shall be my book’:
Reading Trees in As You Like It”
Jean-Louis Claret (Aix Marseille University) p.59
3. “From Elders to Medlars in the Forest of Arden”
Ladan Niayesh
(University of Paris Diderot-Paris 7) p.71

Part II

Becoming truly human

4. “‘Tradition takes not away my blood’:
Primoge/nature in Shakespeare’s As You Like It” Sélîma Lejri (University of Humanities and Social Science and École Normale Supérieure, Tunis) p.79
5. “Butchers and Wrestlers in As You Like It”
Anne-Valérie Dulac (Paris 13 University) p.95
6. “Augustinian Pessimism and Aristotelian Optimism in As You Like It”
Kathleen French (University of Sydney) p.111

7. : “[B]etter strangers’: The Politics of Translation in As You Like It”

Sophie Lemerrier-Goddard

(École Normale Supérieure, Lyon)

p.123

Part III

The experimental dimension of As You Like It

8. “Who Am I, How am I, and What Am I?
Unresolved Gender and Sexual Identification in William Shakespeare’s As You Like It”

Shawna Guenther

(Dalhousie University)

p.139

9. “Essays on Virtue: As You Like It
as Shakespeare’s Essays”

William West (Northwestern University)

p.149

10. “Discord in the Spheres’:
Revising Marlowe in As You Like It”

Roy Eriksen (Agder University)

p.159

11. : “At One Together: As You Like It and the Politics of The United Kingdom”

Richard Wilson (Kingston University)

p.175

Part IV

As You Like It from stage to page

12. “No temple but the wood[en]’: Stagecraft and the Staging of Materiality in Shakespeare’s
As You Like It”

Anne-Marie Miller-Blaise

(University of Paris 3-Sorbonne Nouvelle)

p.197

13. “How Did they Like It? The Challenges of Recreating the Elizabethan Staging Conditions of As You Like It ”
Chantal Schütz (École Polytechnique)	p.217
14. “The Truest Scholarship is the Most Faining: The Genesis and Afterlife of an Edition”
Michael Hattaway (New York University in London)	p.233
EPILOGUE “ As You Like It Revisited”
François Laroque (University of Paris 3-Sorbonne Nouvelle):	p.253
APPENDIX
Pierre Iselin (University of Paris-Sorbonne): “Shakespeare As You Like It ”	p.261
General Bibliography	p.265
Index	p.293